

The reason for signing up for a no call list is so that you will not be bothered. I work from 7am until 5pm and then go to school from 6pm until 9pm five days a week and work on restoring a 100 year old home in a historical neighborhood on weekends. I do not have time to put up with calls from a business that I already do business with. If I wanted the extra service, I would sign up for it. If they have a new service, they can send it in the mail. The USPS needs the extra money anyway. I don't receive any assistance from the government but pay increasing taxes ever year. You can at least prevent more unwanted calls from occurring. Also, being called from a business will prevent me from doing future business with them. Thanks
